Rajalakshmi College students bag top prize in hackathon

Chennai: Two students from Rajalakshmi Engineering College won the Hack2help hackathon organised by the US Consulate recently. While Smruthi P V and Ravisubramanian bagged the first prize, three students of IIT-Madras and four students of Rajalakshmi engineering college won the second and third prizes respectively.

The two-day hackathon focused on idea scouting, problem defining, ideating for solutions and on-the-spot solution development, said a press release. Hack2Help Social Innovation Hackathon is a US government funded programme held in collaboration with Learning Links Foundation. TNN
